

Information from the Website of European Academy of Science

PhD, Professor Zaal Kokaia, - is the Director of Lund Stem Cell Center (Sweden), Coordinator of Strategic Research Area in Stem Cell Biology and Regenerative Medicine “StemTherapy” (Sweden), Professor of Experimental Medical Research , Department of Clinical Sciences, of Faculty of Medicine, University of Lund (Sweden); Head of Laboratory of Stem Cells & Restorative Neurology at Lund Stem Cell Center, Lund Sweden; Visiting Professor at the Faculty of Medicine, I. Javakhishvil Tbilisi State University; former Scientific, Senior, Lead Fellow of I. Beritashvili Institute of Physiology, Georgian Academy of Sciences (1988-1995).

Fields of Scholarship of Professor Zaal Kokaia are: Stem cells; Stroke; Neurogenesis; Neurodegeneration; Restorative Neurology; Cellular Reprogramming; Neuroregeneration

Honors and Awards of Professor Zaal Kokaia are:

Petre Sarajishvili Medal and Honor Diploma for prominent contribution in neuro-education in Georgia (2009); awarded by Georgian Association of Neurologists and Neurosurgeons

Elected member, Lund Physiographic Society, Sweden (2011); Honorary Doctor, David Agmashenebeli University of Georgia, Tbilisi (2012);

Honorary Member, Georgian Association of Allergology and Clinical Immunology (2012);

Distinguished Professor, Free University, Tbilisi, Georgia (2013);

Nino Javakhishvili Medal for the contribution to Natishvili Institute of Morphology, Tbilisi State University, Georgia (2017).

Professor Zaal Kokaia is a Member of numerous scientific societies, including the Academy of Europe.